Books/ Bookazines

Prevention bookazines are a series of thematic newsstand specials offering in-depth coverage on a variety of health and wellness topics. From cutting edge health subjects to diet focused tent-pole brands, these custom publications are chock-full of easy to follow tips, solutions, information, and recipes custom-tailored for the Prevention health-influencer audience. Participating ad partners can align their brand with synergistic high-profile editorial through exposure in a bookazine of choice. These branded books and bookazines extend the Prevention brand's position as the authority on health through in-depth journalism aimed at loving your body and living your best life by focusing on preventive, natural care and support for the body you have.

EVENT R3 Summit

Prevention's R3 Summit is the ultimate health & wellness weekend that aims to refresh, revive, and reinvent readers and attendees. Since 2013, this signature event brings the reinvented Prevention brand to life through 2-days of interactive brand-building experiences that pull inspiration from editorial content, unique consumer experiences, and contextually relevant ad partner activations. The "big idea" is to create a national movement that promotes health and happiness amongst women through this high-profile experiential event.

The R3 Summit inspires attendees to live their whole life through immersive, thought leadership and by connecting Prevention ad partners with this unique health leadership class of readers who lead and shape the national health and wellness agenda. Summit attendees interact with the brand during cooking demonstrations with celebrity chefs, by relaxing in the lounge-like retreat atmosphere, are the first to learn about high-tech advances in beauty & wellness techniques, attend group meditation sessions led by top experts, and engage in activations that inspire interaction and a sense of community.
